

Broken Heart

I want to apologize to all my readers for the lack of posts this week. My heart has not been into cooking or food. On Monday we said goodbye to our sweet Bucky. We bottle fed him when he was ten days old and loved him the ten years he was with us. My heart is broken.

I will be back on Sunday with the link party, but this week there's nothing to cook.

